

Natalya A. Khridina – Candidate of Sociology, Associate Professor, the chair of constitutional and municipal law, the Pacific State University (136, Tikhookeanskaya Str., Khabarovsk, 680035, Russia). E-mail: 010772@pnu.edu.ru

Traditional way of life of small indigenous peoples in sociological dimension

The article analyses sociological aspect of the traditional way of life of indigenous small peoples from the point of view of creating conditions from the state. It is determined that in the current context of continuous information and technological progress, the preservation of indigenous small communities leading a traditional way of life is of particular relevance. Objective and subjective factors have been identified that determine the state and assessment of the traditional way of life of small indigenous peoples. Measures of state support for the living standards of small indigenous peoples were analyzed, and their subjective assessment was given by respondents. According to the results of sociological study, factors have been identified that have a negative impact on the possibility of indigenous peoples preserving the traditional way of life, and additional measures of their state support have been proposed.

Keywords: traditional way of life, indigenous small peoples, state national policy, state program, sociological research, the Khabarovsk territory.

References:

1. Tolstykh V. I. Lifestyle: Concept, reality, problems. Moscow: Politizdat, 1975. 184 p. (In Russian).
2. Bestuzhev-Lada IV Content and structure of the category of lifestyle. Theoretical and methodological problems of the study of the way of life. M., 1979. S. 15. (In Russian).
3. Zorin V. Yu., Khabrieva T. Ya. State national policy of the Russian Federation: problems of implementation and improvement Zhurnal rossiyskogo prava [Journal of Russian law], 2003, no. 8, pp. 34–41. (In Russian).
4. Markhgeim M. V. National factor of modern constitutional construction in Russia Nauchnyye vedomosti Belgorodskogo gosudarstvennogo universiteta. Seriya: Filosofiya. Sotsiologiya. Pravo [Scientific Bulletin of Belgorod State University. Series: Philosophy. Sociology. Right], 2011, no. 20 (115), pp 341–348. (In Russian).
5. Khaknazarov S. Kh. Sustainable development of indigenous small-numbered peoples of the North: theoretical and sociological analysis Vestnik ugrovedeniya [Bulletin of Ugric Studies], 2013, no. 4 (15), pp. 118–124. (In Russian).
6. Loginov V. G., Ignatieva M. N., Balashenko V. V. Ethnosocial ecosystem approach to assessing the vital activity of indigenous peoples of the North Ekonomika regiona [Economy of the region], 2018, vol. 14, no. 3, pp. 896–913. (In Russian).
7. Sulyandziga RV Small indigenous peoples of the North, Siberia and the Far East of the Russian Federation. Review of the current situation. M., 2003. 145 p. (In Russian).
8. Turaev VA Socio-demographic processes among the indigenous peoples of the Far East in 1989–2010 Rossiya i ATR [Russia and Asia-Pacific], 2019, no. 2, pp. 145–164. (In Russian).
9. Zaslavskaya TI Sociology of economic life. Essays on the theory. Novosibirsk: Science. 1991. (In Russian).

Reference to the article

Khridina N. A. Traditional way of life of small indigenous peoples in sociological dimension // Power and Administration in the East of Russia. 2021. No. 1 (94). Pp. 170–176. DOI 10.22394/1818-4049-2021-94-1-170-176