Abstract. At present, Heilongjiang Province has intensified cooperation with Russia, achieved new developments and new changes in the development of economy and trade with Russia. Not only has the scale of trade with Russia expanded, the structure of trade has been optimized, but the level of construction of transport channels with Russia has also increased. Although Heilongjiang Province has achieved positive results in developing trade and economic cooperation with Russia, there are still some problems that hinder the deepening and improvement of the quality of cooperation with Russia due to the influence of the industrial base and the international situation.

Keywords: Heilongjiang, the Far East of Russia, trade and economic cooperation, export and import operations
